

Impartial and independent

“As an independent, management owned firm we can offer clients balanced, objective advice”.

Unlike many of our competitors, A&O Acquisitions is an independent management-owned firm.

Our objective is to provide our clients with considered, impartial advice tailored to their specific needs. This independence, allied to extensive knowledge of local markets and long relationships with affiliates enables us to provide outstanding advice.

We are not part of a larger corporate group and consequently we are under no pressure to sell potentially inappropriate products as part of an inclusive package. Furthermore our independence enables us to be flexible in our investment decisions.

Independence, Innovation and Individuality.

We serve private investors from all works of life, recognizing everyone's circumstances, needs and aspirations are different. The ability to devise a bespoke investment plan for each of our clients, and thereafter proactively managing it within what we believe to be the most efficient tax structure is at the core of our service and expertise.

Our very personal approach is backed by professionals whose innovative investment methodologies, approaches to technology and research are what we believe to be amongst the industry's finest. Our management style is dynamic and able to respond to a rapidly changing canvas.
