

A reputation for integrity

“Our clients can be assured of an ethical approach in all dealings”

As a management owned firm, we stand or fall on our reputation, which is based upon a strict observance of regulatory requirements and integrity in all dealings.

Africa is often perceived as a risky and difficult place in which to do business, a misperception which can be largely mitigated by proper understanding of the political and business practices in its several markets.

A&O Acquisitions has deep experience of markets and their governing practices which enables us to overcome the challenges and find opportunities for our clients where others see obstacles.

We apply our highest principles and standards in our dealings in each African market. This is a guiding principle of our firm's philosophy on which we are not prepared to compromise.